Dear Volunteers,

It is a new week. Every day is an opportunity to awaken. Every day is an opportunity to reform. Every day is an opportunity to realign to your community.

Since the community is well connected, one friend tells two others. Two tell 4 more. Then people ask questions and awaken. Then they show up in meetings. They show up in letters for the public record. Their voice gets louder.

Your message for the day is linked below. Notice not one comment from those considered enemies. Incredible restraint it seems. What do they know that caused the calm?

I've been told recently that some consider that the due course of change will happen over time. There is not time. There is a strong, calm storm a brewin'. If it does not result in a shift of course and players, that shift will happen by external direction. Be assured that is so.

You have a good day, I'm sure the School Council meetings tonight will be informative. I would encourage you to record those meetings for public awareness.

With regard,

Dick Corso
